Carmel Drug Robbed Again

Last night or early this morning, the Carmel Drug Store was the victim of a break-in and robbery for the second time in five months. The robber, or robbers, entered in precisely the same manner as before, by making a hole in the roof. According to Carmel police, the thief removed the framework around the safe, peeled the whole front face off the door, then pounded out the fire clay to reach the workings.

Arts Commission Chairman May Have To Wear Two Hats

Somewhat nonplused, Arts Commission Chairman Barbara Norberg faced a future hat-changing antics as the result of a council decision Tuesday night.

"Ladies are good at this," Councilman Eben Whittlesey encouraged her.

The proposed headgear switching came about because the council learned from City Attorney William B. Burleigh that the arts commission, legally, cannot solicit funds to finance the city's golden anniversary celebration in October; also cannot expend funds other than those allotted to the commission by the council last July during budget sessions.

The commission has had printed commemorative decals which

Though no estimate had been made of the loss before noon today, owner Ralph Castagna reported that less cash has been kept in the safe since October, when thieves attempted to "punch" the safe which contained some $10,000. He said there might have been between $300 and $400 inside, in addition to money in the cash register. No narcotics or merchandise were reported missing.

The exact time of entry is unknown. However, a tenant in an apartment to the rear of the building stated that she had heard some noise between 1 and 2 a.m. this morning. Police Chief Clyde Klammann said he believes the robbery was the work of a professional.

Council Delayed On Civic Center

"Beware the Ides of March!" was an admonition applicable to the city council meeting Tuesday night when "a gross clerical error," also, a letter from a lawyer representing building trades unions, killed efforts to award a contract that evening for construction of the new police station and corporation yard.

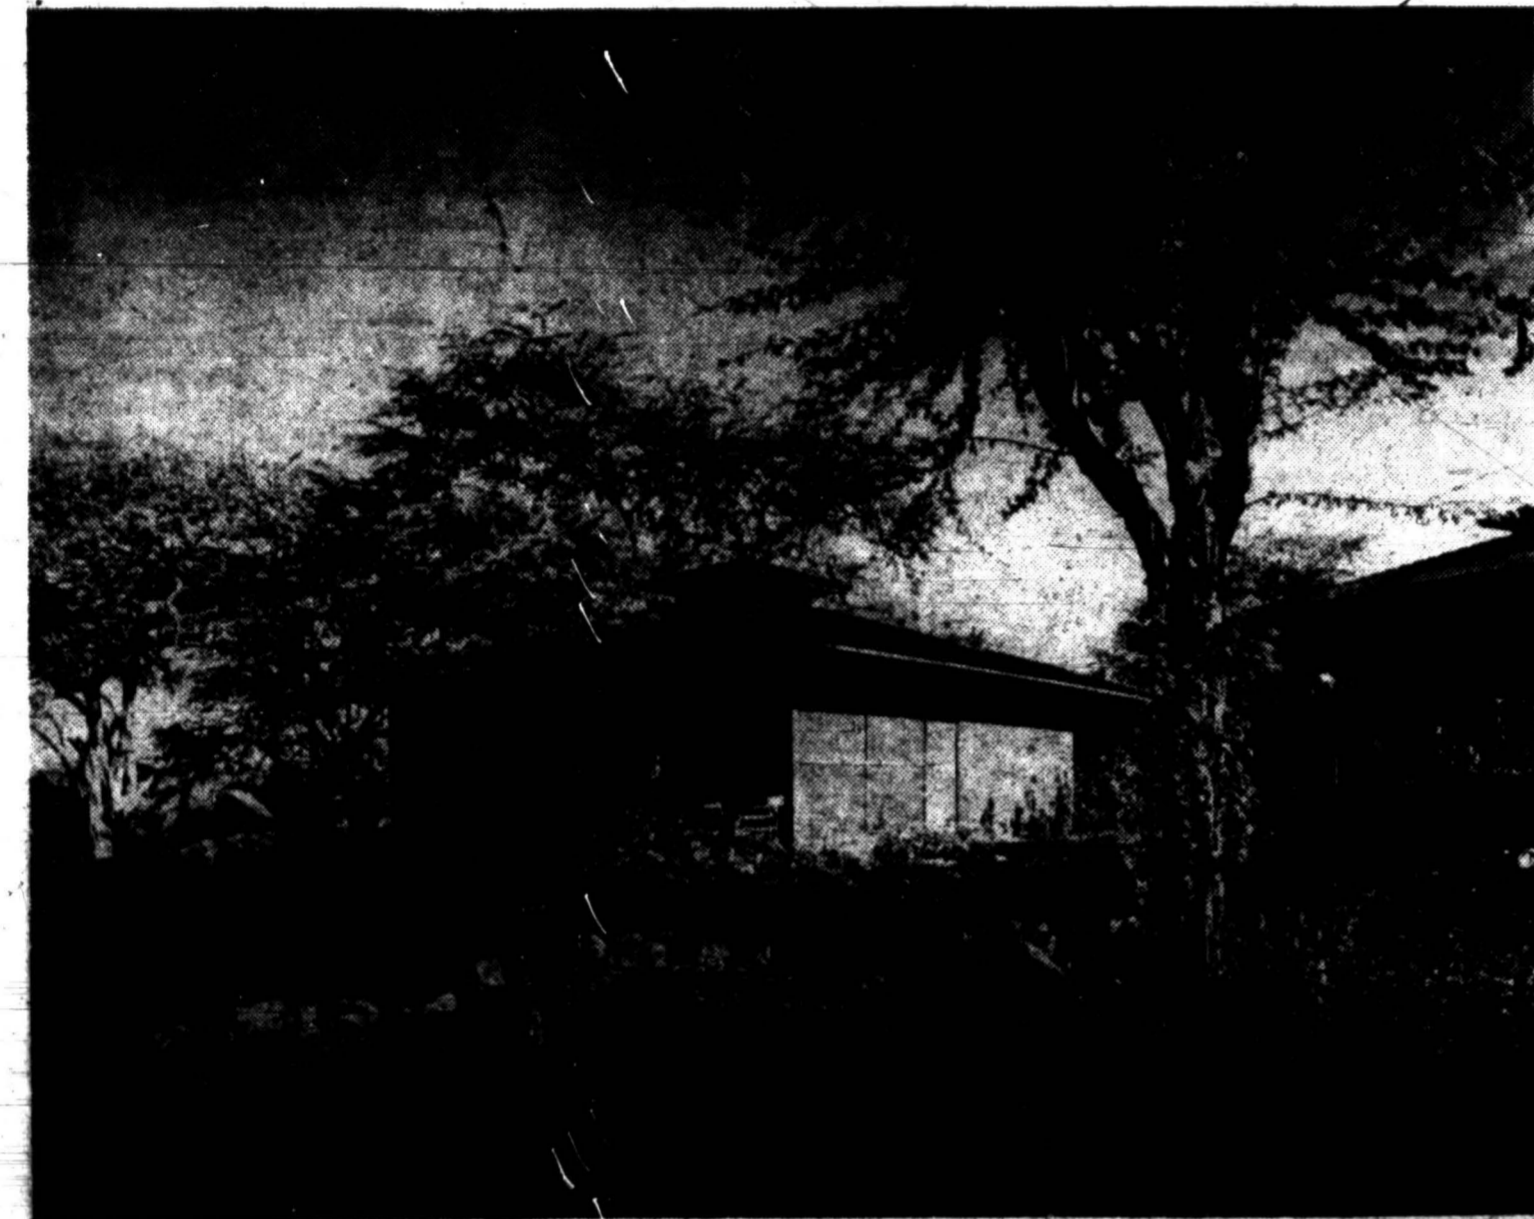

Hopefully, on a more auspicious date, April 6, the council again will endeavor to do what they were prevented from accomplishing this week—and only six days before the city election.

Joseph Fratessa, new bidder for Phase I of the civic center development, withdrew his firm's bid of $315,000 because a figure of "more than $22,000" had been omitted, through a clerical error, from the bid submitted. The ethics of his profession demanded this action Mr. Fratessa explained.

The council, informed by the city attorney that legally the bid could be withdrawn, took action to allow Mr. Fratessa to do so. The next lowest bid, $343,200, was submitted by Comstock Associates and the council will accept or reject this bid next month.

Representing the Building and Construction Trades Council of the Monterey Peninsula, San Jose attorney David Leahy, stated that the state code demands that projects in excess of $2,500 must be put to bid by a city council. If the council did not take such action for the site excavation for the police station and corporation yard, his clients could take legal action his letter indicated.

On the advice of the city attorney, the council decided to ask

Chaises on the screened lanai of Kona Plantation on the Island of Hawaii invite guests to relax. Inside the door, living room, bedroom, dressing room and bath are designed and furnished for similar comfort. This picture was taken by a former Carmelite, Morley Baer, just after construction was completed. Now tropical planting cascades between lava outcroppings and palms, in addition to the trees in the picture, make fascinating shadow patterns.

Far Away In Hawaii, Carmelites Create A Truly Tasteful Hostelry

BY MARJORY LLOYD

"I wanna go back to my little grass shack in Kealahakua" is a nostalgic refrain that doesn't apply any more because there aren't any grass huts on the Kona Coast of the Island of Hawaii. However, a few miles away from the city of the song is Kona Plantation which induces a stronger nostalgia. There guests are welcomed by former Carmelites Ellen and Walter Stuefloten and sheltered in the nearest approach to a tasteful home of one's own, plus automobile, to be found in any resort in the fiftieth state, especially for Carmel residents.

Kona Plantation is the realization of a dream of the Stueflotens and Mr. and Mrs. Patrick North of Carmel aided by a group of

When Walt Stuefloten (left) talks about fishing in Hawaii, he knows what he's talking about. He landed the moomba off the Kona Coast and arranges similar experiences for guests at Kona Plantation. He also promises excellent hunting.

Carmelights

by P. H. H. H.

This being Welcome Home to Marjory Lloyd Week here at the Pine Cone, I'd like to talk a few minutes about language books. Marjory went to Hawaii, as anyone can see from her gorgeous glow, where, of course, it isn't really necessary to speak anything but English. (Besides which, the only Hawaiian dictionary in print costs $15 and if she could afford that, what's she doing working here?) But suppose you're going to Italy. You really should learn some Italian, don't you think? At least enough to tell the cook you don't like garlic in your oatmeal.

O.K.—you decide to buy a grammar. Well, now, there are so many grammars available that if you were able to tell just by looking which was the best, you wouldn't be needing to buy one in the first place. Oh dear, I was afraid you'd get that one. It was antiquated when I bought it back in 1907. And useless. Under Frequently Used Verbs, for instance, we find: "to be, to eat, to feel, to go, to have, to live, to love, to make, to put, to rot, to speak—" To rot? I mean, how many times would you use—"I rot, you rot, he rots, I used to rot, he rotted, we shall rot, oh, let us rot together, you and I!"

So Monterey Peninsula College's Idelle Sullens, feeling that grammar books in general needed to be simplified and brought up to date, has written an excellent one. Her "Principles of Grammar" is primarily a workbook for people who want to write, but her exercises would be infinitely helpful to anyone wishing to speak English correctly. And as for bringing it up to date, how's this for an example of the exclamation point? "What shall I do?" she cried, "I have lost my bikini!"

Still on the subject of language, you know George, the Carmel Rancho Safeway checker who speaks so many languages? Well, he was chatting in Spanish with Dewie Dutton the other day—Dewie was raised in Mexico—while she was writing a check for her purchases. She was halfway out of the parking lot when the manager caught up with her. She'd written the check in Spanish.

And back to the subject of going away, one time we heard of an interesting resort and wrote to them for information. Practically in the return mail we had their brochure, the history of their founders, their price lists and a Who's Who of the preceding year's guests. Their prices were too high for us and we did nothing further about it. But all summer long they bombarded us. Weekly gossip sheets, menus, pictures of the new addition, requests for suggestions as to how their services could be improved and finally, the engraved card: "We sincerely hope your stay was an enjoyable one and that we shall have the honor of being your hosts again in the near future."

But Cynthia Manning's sister's story of never-say-die public relations beats ours by far. Some years ago her class was studying Rhode Island in a very advanced school which encouraged the children to use their own initiative in obtaining information. She did. She figured the person who'd know the most about Rhode Island was His Honor the Governor thereof. So naturally, he was the one to ask. "Dear President," she wrote, "please tell me everything about your state." To this day she is still receiving chamber of commerce literature.

At Security National—oh, darn, I mean United California Bank—Monday, an intellectual looking gentleman was making out a deposit slip and, glancing at the calendar, remarked, "Well, well, tomorrow's the Ides of March." "Hm," said Don Nelson, the assistant manager, "Well, we'll be open anyway."

A shiny new car bearing streamers and other remnants of nuptial horseplay, as well as the large lettered proclamation, "Just Married—Carmel or Bust!" waited at the corner of Franklin and Alvarado Sunday afternoon for the light to change. Patrons in line at the State Theatre watched in amusement as it turned wrong into Alvarado and almost bumped smack-dab into a police car. Then they all held back traffic as the policeman directed the newlyweds back on to Franklin and out to the Carmel highway.

And speaking of theatres, everybody ought to go to the Steinbeck to see "Cat Ballou" because it was adapted from the book written by Carmel's own, the late Roy Chanslor.

Hmph! Now it comes out that the well known saint of the same name as today's well known saint's day wasn't really even named that. Nope. Patrick was just the English form of his Latin name, Patricius. His real British (or Scotch—they aren't even sure where this "Irish" saint came from!) name was Su-cat.

So Happy Su-cat's Day to you, too.

Special Equipment For Film On Egypt

A special screen, 30 feet wide, with "big theatre" four-track stereophonic sound equipment will be installed in Sunset Center auditorium for tomorrow's showing of the Explorers-Carmel film, "Egypt... Gift of the Nile."

The feature-length travel picture will be narrated in person by explorer Ralph Franklin and depict many of the wonders of the country through which the Nile flows including old and new Cairo, a climb up the great Pyramid of Cheops, the temple of Abu Simbel, the tomb of King Tutankhamen and the biblical country of Sinai.

Proceeds of the film will be used by the Explorers Club of San Francisco to provide scholarships for young science students. Tickets ($1.75) will be on sale at Sunset auditorium after 7 p.m. The film will be shown at 8:15 o'clock.

"HEARING" TOPIC OF SATURDAY MEETING

"Happiness is Hearing" will be the theme of the luncheon meeting of Delta Zeta Sorority Alumnae on Saturday. Philanthropic work of the local chapter is concerned with assistance to young people who are deaf and hard-of-hearing and is related to one of the sorority's national programs in this field. The program will include reports of the local chapter's recent party for children at the Tri-County School for the Deaf and meetings with the Parents' Club of the school.

Newcomers are asked to phone Mrs. Howard Reed (372-6606) for reservations for the 12:15 luncheon at June Simpson's Rancho restaurant.

Malcolm Steel Still Uses Razor Given Him By Red Cross In 1917

BY MARJORIE HALLER

Every time Malcolm W. Steel shaves, he remembers the Red Cross. He is still using a razor given to him in 1917 by the organization when he was a young soldier serving in France during World War I. He is now a retired engineer living in Carmel.

As a member of the Eighteenth Engineers of the Pacific Coast area, Mr. Steel went from American Lake, Washington, where his outfit was activated, to New York and thence to Halifax where the ship Saxonia transported him and his buddies to Europe.

The crossing took two weeks. Among the ships in that convoy was the Tuscania, later sunk by German submarines. The rest of the convoy was spared only because the rough seas made it impossible for the German submarines to surface.

"We were among the first 25,000 Americans sent overseas," Mr. Steel reminisces.

From their landing at London, the Eighteenth went to northeastern France, the Alsace-Lorraine region which was the advance sector for the American Expeditionary Force. Here the Eighteenth encountered a long, cold winter, hard work and the challenge of building and repairing bridges, roads and airstrips.

"It was up there near Nancy that I got this razor from the Red Cross, and we usually did without shaving cream. Once we tried using snow because it looked like soap at least. It didn't do the job though!" Mr. Steel recalls.

The original case in which Mr. Steel keeps his memory-packed razor is metal with a leather cover which is now badly worn. The case also contains a small square of steel to serve as a mirror.

Since retiring from his profession, Malcolm Steel remains busy. He still swims daily although he has given up rowing his one-man shell on Carmel River lagoon. He works on his house, pursues his interest in gardening and is active in the Ventura chapter of the Sierra Club, serving as conservation chairman of this group. He is also editor and secretary for the Old Time Athletes Association. Two years ago, his athletic prowess was tested when he helped subdue a young armed bandit who invaded the quiet of the Harrison Memorial Library.

Mr. Steel accepted the job of team captain in the Carmel Red Cross Golden Anniversary Drive with enthusiasm. His engineering experience was immediately demonstrated as he lined up his campaign plans and assistants to help consummate them.

"I'm glad to work with the Red Cross," he states, "I remember with gratitude the many, many things they did for the soldiers in World War I. I know, too, that this service has continued through all the wars since then. It is very sad these services are still needed, and so urgently. But I know one thing—the Red Cross as always is right on the job."

The purchasing corporation's president testified that he understood this policy.

The newest golf course in Del Monte Forest, Spyglass Hill, opened last week. Present at the ceremonies were (left to right) Samuel F. B. Morse, chairman of the board of Del Monte Properties Company; Aime Michaud, president of the company; and Robert Trent Jones, designer of the course. Located between the Cypress Point Club course and the Monterey Peninsula Country Club, Spyglass Hill is now open to the public for play.

In the latter part of the 19th century, Robert Louis Stevenson wandered through the Peninsula's pine forests. The holes of the new golf course have been named after characters in his novel, "Treasure Island." The course itself has been given the name of a hill in the novel.

Steve Gann and his twin sister Polly, whose husband, Samuel Fry, stands beside her, celebrated their 25th birthdays this month in a unique fashion, thanks to the imagination of their mother, Mrs. Eleanor Gann of Pebble Beach.

Neither Steve, training with the U.S. Army Special Forces at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, nor Polly, the busy wife of a U.S. State Department official in Washington, D.C., could get home. Their resourceful mother entertained a group of the twins' generation, all long time friends, and arranged for each guest to have a private telephone conversation with the birthday celebrants.

Those who extended congratulations across the miles were Sam Farr, recently returned from a two-year tour with the Peace Corps in Colombia, Francesca Farr, Daphne Craige, Mrs. Lucinda Lloyd Williams, Mat Laky and Mrs. Gann's mother, Mrs. Edward Michaud.

Symphony Guild Preview Tea

At the Monterey County Symphony Guild's tea this week, members heard symphony director John Gogling give a preview of the forthcoming concert to be held at Sunset auditorium on Tuesday. Guild president, Mrs. Carl Menneken, presided at the meeting.

Pouring at the tea tables were Mrs. Gogling, Mrs. Austin Frey, Mrs. L. L. Kotzebut and Mrs. Cecil Barker. Arrangements for the refreshments were made by Mrs. Donald Smythe, Mrs. F. Gordon Campbell, Mrs. Janice Jones and Mrs. Allman Cook.

According to Mrs. McCormack Bunting, membership chairman, new members are always welcome to this dedicated group which helps to support the symphony financially.

Tahitian Gala Tomorrow Night

"A Night in Tahiti," the gala soiree sponsored by l'Alliance Francaise of the Monterey Peninsula, will take place tomorrow evening at The Outrigger on Cannery Row. Some lucky guest will win the door prize with a choice of a lady's diamond wrist watch, a man's wrist watch or $150 worth of merchandise from the Corbat Swiss Shop Jewelers.

Costumed as South Sea Islanders or in garb typical of Tahiti, guests will join in a grand march at 9 p.m., when prizes will be awarded the most attractive, the most original and most amusing for men, women and groups. Costume judges will include Barbara Burdick, Leonard Heller and Howard Allen. Among the prizes will be dinners for two at the Outrigger and Sunday brunch for two at the Hearthstone (see Party Plans of March 10 and 17 in The Pine Cone).

A bountiful Polynesian luau-buffet will follow the no-host cocktail hour which begins at 6:30 p.m. Dancing will continue until 1 a.m. to the music of Mike Marotta's South Seas Ensemble, and a bar will be open during the evening.

Mrs. John Dowdakin is general chairman of "A Night in Tahiti," to which the public is invited. Ticket information may be obtained from Henri Corbat (624-5621), Mrs. James Hathaway (372-1138), Mrs. Dowdakin (624-2356), Mrs. David Pitfield (624-9485), or Mrs. Phyllis Jervey (624-2003).

Among those who have already made reservations are Mrs. Pillsbury Pringle, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Wurmann, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. George Podbereski, Dr. and Mrs. Tom Morris, Mrs. Egbert Schenck, Raymond Martin, Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Courteol, Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. Leonard McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. Gaspard Weiss, Dr. and Mrs. Sorin Iesvoran, Major and Mrs. Russel Cadle, Mrs. Jacques Ilbeck and Mrs. Germaine Olivie.

Back From Blizzard Land

Happy, indeed, to be back in Carmel is Mrs. Freda Mayo who was in Bismarck, North Dakota, when the severe blizzard raged during the first week of the month. Mrs. Mayo, who remembers walking to school in 26-degree below weather in her hometown of Bismarck, says she has never seen anything as frightening as the recent blizzard. Snow, driven by 35-75 miles-an-hour winds, buried cars, piled up to the tops of houses and confined people to their homes for almost four days.

In addition to finding the sun shining here on her return, another bonus awaited Mrs. Mayo. This was the news of the arrival of a new granddaughter, Susan Lynn, who was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moreland (Shari Mayo) in Oakland on March 7.

Unsung Hero

At their annual dinner dance on February 11 members of the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department were given the American Red Cross citation for services. The awards, presented by Jim Kelsey on behalf of the local chapter, were given in recognition of services with the Red Cross ambulance.

Mrs. Van Riper Here

Friends of Mrs. Charles K. Van Riper are pleased that she is here for the winter to occupy the cottage adjacent to the old Van Riper house (now owned by the James Tysons) on Carmel Point. After an absence of two years, she has been busy overseeing major repairs to the attractive chalk rock house which is near the site of the old Abalone League baseball field where Carmelites took part in many a hotly contested game.

With the end of improvements in sight, Mrs. Van Riper is looking forward to enjoying her golf games and leisure to roam the beach before returning to Martha's Vineyard in April.

She reports that Tony Van Riper and his family are now residents of Wellesley, Massachusetts, where Tony is teaching English in a junior high school.

A Bride For Les Laky

Mr. and Mrs. Les Laky announce the marriage of their son, Les Laky Jr., to Patricia McGee of Lorain, Ohio. The young couple's wedding took place in Lorain, where the bridegroom is employed for Lorain Products.

At Carmel High School, from which he graduated in 1957, Les was senior class president and the first student mayor of Carmel. He earned his degree in engineering from the University of California in Berkeley. He is the brother of Mat Laky, an architectural student at U.C. Berkeley, and Gyongy (Ginger) Laky, who is currently dividing her time between San Francisco and Los Angeles in the management of the Laky Galleries.

Pat and Les spent part of their honeymoon in San Francisco, in Squaw Valley (Les' old stomping grounds) and were in Carmel for a brief but happy family reunion. The newlyweds will make their home in Lorain.

Shoe Repair Shop In New Location

Starting with a one-man shoe repair business 27 years ago, Charles A. Federico has built up his Franklin Shoe Repair Shop in Monterey into an organization receiving national recognition for the excellence of its work and has earned the popularity accorded him on the Monterey Peninsula. In recent years, Mr. Federico has won numerous awards for his craftsmanship, among them several in Shoe Service Magazine's National Silver Cup Contests.

As the business has grown, so has the need for additional space. Now, with a complete new building and a new name, Federico's Drive-In Shoe Repair has opened its quarters at 542 Abrego Street, Monterey. Equipped with the most modern machinery available and employing 14 people, the new facility has drive-through service and parking arrangements to allow constant, courteous service, a watchword with the Franklin Shoe Repair Shop over the years. The Fort Ord branch, which won the 1958 Western Workmanship Ribbon, will be closed so that all operations may be coordinated at the one central location.

Active in community affairs, Mr. Federico is one of the sponsors of the annual summer camp program for underprivileged children.

Everyone is invited to inspect Federico's Drive-In Shoe Repair at the new location, where additional services include the repair and replacement of zippers, restyling, cleaning and dying of footwear and repair of luggage and handbags.

LAST WEEK'S WINNER

Christopher Gray, Carmel High '54, is the winner of a year's free subscription to The Carmel Pine Cone, having been the first to correctly identify last week's "mystery" picture. Chris knew even the exact date when President Emeritus of the Carmel Youth Center Adult Board, Frederick Godwin, was honored at the center's sixth birthday party and received a plaque of appreciation.

Judging by the number of people who phoned in response to the challenge, there are either lots of good memories or lots of Carmel High graduates of the mid-50s still living here. Peter Mitchell of Carmel Highlands came within a hair of winning.

Council Asks State Action On Pollution

The Carmel City Council, at its regular meeting last week, approved a resolution requesting the State Legislature to amend the State Health and Safety Code to allow cities to spend tax money to oppose, regulate or control water and air pollution originating outside city boundaries. Councilman Gunnar Norberg, who initiated the action, said that State legislators need such municipal resolutions to support the introduction of legislation and remarked that State Senator Fred Farr had so informed him. Councilman James Buffington and Steven Grant opposed the resolution, questioning the propriety of spending public money for what might become unlimited "causes" outside the community. City attorney William Burleigh pointed out that if such an amendment were passed by the State Legislature, there would be no obligation upon cities to make use of its provisions.

Chryslers Enjoyed Mexico

Mr. and Mrs. Gage Chrysler are still excited by the memories of the sights and sounds of Mexico as well as the interesting and friendly people they met during a two-week trip south of the border. Among Guadalajara's many attractions which fascinated them was the enormous Mercado Libertad whose beautiful modern architecture covers over a square block. A profusion of items available in the giant market includes everything from clothing and pottery to live birds and food.

Sightseeing in Guadalajara included visits to the Governor's Palace, built in 1643, which contains fine Orozco murals; the State Museum and its exhibits of archeological pieces and paintings; the Cabanas Orphanage, a colonial building with 26 flowered patios and a chapel decorated by Orozco; the cathedral, where Murillo's "Assumption of the Virgin" hangs; and the Degollado Theatre, home of the Guadalajara Symphony Orchestra. The Chryslers were also impressed by the beautifully planted squares with fountains and statuary which surround the buildings.

From the capital city of Jalisco, the Chryslers made side trips to Lake Chapala, an area popular with Americans living in Mexico, to Tlaquepaque, the furniture, glass and pottery manufacturing suburb of Guadalajara, and to Tequila. They were in Guadalajara at the time of "La Fiesta de Zapopan." This is the period when La Virgen returns to her own basilica after nearly four months of visiting the various churches in the capital and the travelers found the ceremonies most impressive. Tonalá, famous for its pottery, was also on their itinerary. Before leaving for Puerto Vallarta, they managed to take in bull fights and cockfights.

The simplicity and natural beauty of Vallarta appealed to the Chryslers, though they, like numerous Americans, note the advance of tourism in the once-unspoiled tropical port.

En route home, the Chryslers stopped in Mazatlan, which they enjoyed tremendously and where Gage got in some big game fishing for marlin and sailfish.

On their return, Mrs. Chrysler remarked "When it comes right down to facts, there isn't a more beautiful natural setting than our own village." While away, the Chryslers' Donut Den was freshly painted and refurbished so that they found it a pleasure to return to work again.

Attended Canham Lecture

Among local residents who traveled to San Francisco Sunday to hear the lecture by Erwin D. Canham, editor in chief of The Christian Science Monitor, were Mrs. Eveilyn LeRoi, Mrs. Margaret Miner, Miss Camilla Daniels, Mrs. Florence Payne, Willard Newman, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bruggeman, Fred Bruggeman and Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Dutton. So great was the demand for seats, Mrs. Dutton reports, that the noted former president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors repeated his talk later for an overflow audience of more than 1,000 waiting people.

Drama Participants

Local participants in the San Francisco Musical Club's observance of its "Year of Jubilee" are Barbara Horder West, director of the drama section, and Mrs. Walter A. deMartini, who is appearing today in the annual drama day at the Century Club in San Francisco.

The commemorative program consists of excerpts from famous plays — dramatic, comic and romantic — and both veteran and neophyte members of the group will have roles in the presentation.

Visitors At Tor House

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wagner arrived Tuesday from Grosse Pointe, Michigan, for an indefinite stay with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Donnan Jeffers, at Tor House on Carmel Point. Their visit is a particularly joyful reunion with their grandchildren, Una, Donnan Jr. and Robin, whom they have not seen for some two years during the Jefferses' residence in Ireland.

The whole family is looking forward to seeing the Jefferses' oldest son, Lindsay, who is due home on Spring vacation from Occidental College.

Miss Wright At Conference

Dorothy Wright, vice principal of Carmel High School, attended the annual conference of the California Association of women deans and vice principals of the northern region which took place in Palo Alto earlier this month. Theme of the conference was "A Focus on Values."

Filipino Community Officers

Fabian Era of Carmel was re-elected president of the Filipino Community Organization of the Monterey Peninsula at a recent meeting in Monterey. Other Carmel residents elected to office include Mrs. Filipina Macahilig, secretary; Mrs. Betty Menes, auditor; and Edel Macahilig, member of the board of directors.

Kids Copped The Prizes

Out of three generations of Timberses who spent most of last week skiing in the Mammoth Lakes area, it was the youngest whose members brought home the medals for prowess on the slopes. Howard Timbers is very proud of his granddaughters, Susan Sumner, nine, and Christine Pope, seven, who won awards in the slalom contest.

Included in the holiday group were Mrs. Dick Sumner (Pat Timbers) of Yreka and Mr. and Mrs. Demarest Pope (Carole Timbers) of Sacramento. Young Jeffery Demarest was a guest of his grandmother, Mrs. Timbers, in Carmel, while Scot and Shannon Sumner remained in Yreka to keep their father company.

Leon Panetta Commended

Lieutenant Leon E. Panetta, chief, plans and operations division, G2, at Fort Ord since September, 1964, has received the Army Commendation Medal. Lieutenant Colonel Harry Fair, assistant chief of staff, G2, at Fort Ord made the presentation as the young officer's wife, Sylvia, watched the ceremony.

After release from active duty, Lieutenant Panetta, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carmelo Panetta of Carmel Valley, will become legislative assistant to Senator Thomas Kuchel in Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Kuster Entertained

Before Mrs. William J. Rider and her sister, Mrs. M. C. Beal, returned to their home in Poughkeepsie, New York, last week, Mrs. Edward Kuster was hostess at a cocktail party in their honor. A large group of friends enjoyed the gathering for the honored visitors who were in Carmel for five weeks following a trip to Hawaii.

No stranger to Carmel, Mrs. Rider has a special purpose for her sojourns here — Kate and Kevin Rider and, incidentally, their parents, Fred and Marcia Rider.

A Fourth Generation Member Of Famed Carmel Family Has Only Female Role In New Studio Play

"Mister Roberts," the truest, saddest and funniest play written about the World War II Navy, will open at the Studio Theatre-Restaurant tomorrow night.

The title role will be played by Pasadena Playhouse graduate Roy Baxter, who has previously appeared at the Studio in three productions.

Chosen to play the one female role, an Army nurse, is blonde, blue-eyed Lucinda Fry, a member of the fourth generation of a famed family to appear on a Carmel stage. Her great-grandfather was the late George Marion of Carmel. Her grandmother is one of Carmel's favorite actresses, Ruth McElroy, and her mother, Ann Fry, made her stage debut here.

Newcomer to the Studio stage, but not to Peninsula theatre, will be W. H. Scholefield in the role of "The Doc." He has done undergraduate work at Sul Ross State College in Texas, where he majored in business and speech.

David L. Morris will play the tyrant captain. Also a new face at the Studio, he has played at the Jay Rob and Bread and Butter theatres, both in Sacramento, and in productions at U.C. at Davis.

Winston Sargent started his theatrical career backstage at the Studio in "A Thousand Clowns." He will have the role of the tough, tobacco-chewing Chief Dowdy.

Jim Sweeney, remembered for his roles in "Bye Bye Birdie" and "Once Upon a Mattress," will be the fun-loving Wiley.

Stefanowski, the always-tired, roly-poly redhead, who can never find his proper battle station, will be portrayed by Jerry Don Johnson, who delighted audiences with his comic cockney characterization of Tommy in "The Hasty Heart."

The MPC drama department will be represented by three students, Richard Gardner as the sensitive Dolan; Roderick Sibley as Lindstrom; and Glenn Kovacevich as the overworked southern shore patrol officer. Glenn is also stage manager for "Mister Roberts."

Playing two brawling sailors who end up "eternal buddies," after a drunken free-for-all, are Charles Rob Beardon and J. R. Woody.

The director for the production is Michael Keller, who will also play the role of Ensign Pulver. Ruth Jordan Allan is the set designer, with R. J. Woody as technical advisor.

Producers Betty Hackett and Royden Martin announce an eight-week run, with dinner being served from 6:30-7:30 and show time at 8:30 p.m.

Navy Postgraduate School To Present 'Guys And Dolls'

Rhea Diveley of Carmel, well known to Peninsula playgoers, is directing the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School's Little Theater in its spring production, "Guys and Dolls." The popular musical comedy by Jo Swerling and Abe Burrows based on stories by Damon Runyon, opens March 25 at Ling Hall at the NPGS. It will also be presented March 26, April 1 and April 2.

The Runyon characters float sublimely through their improbable escapades in this amusing comedy produced by Fred Terman, professor of electrical engineering at the school. Richard Sheere is musical director and Dale Lefler is in charge of choreography. The orchestra leader is Howard E. Huddleston, director of the 12th Naval District band.

Tickets are available at the Harnish Music Company in Carmel, or at the Officers' Club at the NPGS; Reservations may also be made by phoning 375-5600 from 7-11 a.m.

Suzanne Bauer

Funeral services for Mrs. Suzanne Bauer, who died unexpectedly in a local hospital Saturday morning, were held at the Mission Mortuary Monday, followed by Requiem Mass in the Carmel Mission Basilica.

A resident of Carmel since 1945, Mrs. Bauer was born in Paris, France, February 17, 1895, and came to the United States in 1923.

For many years she was a millinery designer for Saks Fifth Avenue in Chicago and for Madame Marguerite, also in Chicago.

She was an active member of the Alliance Francaise of the Monterey Peninsula.

Mrs. Bauer leaves her husband, Alfred E. Bauer of Carmel, and four nephews residing in France.

Burial took place at the Monterey Catholic Cemetery.

TOWN HOUSE EVENTS

Carl Bensberg presented a program of Irish songs at 3 p.m. today at Carmel Foundation Town House.

Tonight, members of the Monterey Peninsula Garden Club will hold their regular meeting at 8 p.m. at the Town House. Beatrice Howitt will show color slides of the wild flowers of California. Anyone interested in gardening is urged to attend. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Celebration Sunday Of Ancient Liturgy At All Saints' Church

A seventh century Byzantine-style Liturgy will be celebrated in All Saints' Church Sunday morning at 9:15 a.m. Based on research done by the Anglican liturgical scholar Massey Shepherd, the Holy Eucharist will be con-celebrated by three priests and sung by a men's chorus in Russian.

Lieutenant James Small (USN), member of the parish and student in the Russian department of the Defense Language School will conduct the singing and chanting. Acolytes and sub-deacons will surround the Holy Table and take part in the Great Procession of the Gospel and the elements of the Eucharist during the service.

Carmel High School students Jay Clancy, Stewart Smith, Randy Newman, Bill Thompson, Brian McEldowney and others will participate. The Reverend David Hill, the Reverend Lloyd Johnston and the Reverend Sam Smith will be the con-celebrants.

After the service the weekly adult class and discussion group will be held in the parish hall.

The services at All Saints' are open to the public at all times.

WHAT'S DOING?

On those rare occasions when your phone needs fixing, telephone repairmen are Johnny-on-the-spot (at no extra charge) and thoughtful, too. Like the one who responded to a customer's call and replaced a phone cord chewed up by the family cat... then left an old piece of spring cord for kitty to play with!

Ninety years ago this month, the first U.S. telephone patent was issued — to Alexander Graham Bell. Today there are over 75 million Bell System phones in service including 64,000 in the Monterey area.

It seems hard to believe, but an estimated 3.7 million adult Californians are missing out on one of their greatest privileges—the right to vote. That's because these Californians haven't registered to vote. How about you? For information check with the Registrar of Voters. Deadline date for registering to vote in the California Primary Election is April 14.

As a reminder—Yellow Page advertisements are now being solicited in the Monterey area. Our salesman will be contacting business customers until May 31st. Should you have any questions—or if you're new in business and would like to have a salesman see you, please call 372-7335.

Income tax question? Get the answer by telephone, advises the Internal Revenue Service. If there's an office near you, you'll find the number in the white pages of your telephone book under the heading: "United States Government, Treasury Department, Internal Revenue Service." They'll be glad to answer inquiries.

Party Plans

By Phyllis Jervey

Who wouldn't welcome taking one's houseguests out for brunch after a night on the Peninsula? Come Sunday morning consider Mark Thomas' Hearthstone as the cure for apathy. There you will have more than an eye-opener, actually a miniature meal with substance, thanks to Eliot Loomis, manager of Carmel's Hearthstone.

"Not serving fresh artichokes here is like ignoring Chesapeake crab back where I hail from," Eliot told us in his soft Baltimore accent. For a surprising number of years, this youthful connoisseur was food and beverage manager of such famed hostels as the Sheraton-Belvedere in his home town, next at the Sheraton-Carlton in our nation's capital and then at Howard Johnson's in Annapolis, known as Crabtown-on-the-Chesapeake.

As we start cooking on the type-writer instead of slaving over a stove, we are most grateful to Eliot. No more getting up at day-break! What is so effortlessly prepared by the Hearthstone's staff is indeed a boon to Carmel. We are still in a trance over their Oeufs Benedict avec genuine Virginia ham, superb fresh artichoke with drawn butter and crisply toasted English muffins... From now on no disappearing hostess' last-minute preparations at home!

Thanks to Eliot's comprehensive description here is what goes on for Sunday brunch from 10:30 a.m. until 2 p.m. at the Hearthstone.

CHICKEN LIVER OMELETTE

Sauté ½ lb. plump sliced fresh chicken livers in butter with chopped shallots (or chives or green onions). Do not overcook. Add dry white wine in small quantity, simmering until just done. Remove from stove.

Now make a good French-style omelette by not beating the eggs too much. No blender, no rotary beater! Use a silver fork. Have two eggs per person, per omelette. Stir gently with fork about four times, or just enough to break the yolks. Salt and pepper them lightly. Place a piece of butter into an omelette or curved pan and when it becomes very hot stir the eggs carefully into the skillet with your fork. When they thicken (use low heat), begin to roll them down with the fork to form an omelette.

Before the actual turning, fill inside with the prepared livers.

Add a piece of butter at the point where you left off rolling the omelette. This should be soft inside and brown on the outside. A perfect result is obtained by using enough butter. Add tomato halves broiled with buttered bread crumbs and grated Parmesan cheese on top. Minced chives too!

CREAMED TURKEY HEARTHSTONE

Cube roasted turkey (minus skin) into good manageable-sized pieces. Be generous a la Hearthstone. Include savory turkey broth mixed with a delicate white sauce sparked with sherry. Pour over hot split buttered toasted English muffins.

OEUF BENELECT, VIRGINIA HAM

(Serves 4)

Two English muffins; 4 tbsps. butter; ¼ tsp. salt; 4 freshest of jumbo eggs; 4 round slices baked Virginia ham; cayenne; parsley, hollandaise sauce.

Prepare hollandaise sauce from your favorite recipe or use the new powdered kind in envelope which has rich butter flavor with a hint of lemon and is so easy to make.

Mark Thomas' distinguished chefs prepare their own with sure nonchalance. Keep sauce hot in double boiler until ready to pour over top of the finished product. Tear muffins in half with fingers. Spread with softened sweet butter. Toast under broiler until golden brown.

Use a poaching ring to make really perfect poached eggs a bit better done than usual. You may use Canadian bacon to substitute for the Virginia ham if preparing Eggs Benedict at home, or lightly saute circular slices of Virginia ham in butter. Arrange these on muffins. Cover with eggs which have been removed with a slotted spoon, being careful not to break yolks. Top with hot hollandaise. Decorate with parsley. Sprinkle sparingly with salt and cayenne. Serve right off. "Que c'est bon!"

BEEF STROGANOFF WITH RICE

(Serves 4-6)

2 lbs. sirloin steak cut into strips; 2 cups sliced fresh mushrooms; 1 cup finely chopped onions; ¼ cup butter; 3 beef bouillon cubes; 1 cup boiling water; 2 tbsps. tomato paste; 1 tsp. dry mustard; ½ tsp. salt; 2 tbsps. flour; ½ cup water; 1 cup dairy sour cream; 4 cups cooked flaky white rice.

Cut strips of steak 2½ inches long and one inch wide. In large skillet, saute mushrooms and onions in 3 tbsps. butter until golden brown. Remove from skillet. Add remaining butter and brown meat on all sides 15 minutes. Dissolve bouillon cubes in boiling water; pour over meat. Add tomato paste, mustard and salt. Cover. Simmer 45 minutes until fork tender. Combine flour and water. Slowly stir into meat mixture. Cook, stirring constantly, until just boiling. Reduce heat; add mushrooms, onions and sour cream. Heat but do not allow to boil.

Serve over fluffy hot white rice. The flavor of this continental dish improves if prepared the day before. Add the sour cream when reheating over hot water. A life saver for sleepyheads who can't make it to the Hearthstone!

A perfect artichoke is boiled in salted water just to cover with a peeled garlic clove and lemon juice added. When tender but not overcooked, drain upside down in colander.

The recipes above are what make the Hearthstone's Sunday Brunch superb fare.

MEET THE AUTHOR PARTY

A Meet-the-Author Party honoring the publication of a new novel by Big Sur writer Jack Curtis will be held tomorrow afternoon from 3 until 5 o'clock in the Gallery of the Phoenix, the art and gourmet shop adjoining Nepenthe.

The novel is entitled "The Kloochman." It is a contemporary story with its setting in Alaska. "Klooch" is a term applied to a native Far North girl. Mr. Curtis spent some time living and traveling in Alaska gathering background material for this new volume which has just been released by publishers Simon and Schuster.

Although "The Kloochman" is Curtis' first novel he is by no means new to the writing business. In early school days he was interested in writing and in his pre-graduation years at Fresno State College he was a serious journalism student and editor of the college paper.

Jack Curtis served his country with the U.S. Navy in the South Pacific during World War II and ever since he has devoted his time and talent to the field of writing.

He is perhaps best known as a television script writer. A new show on TV just this week "Big Valley" is a Jack Curtis work. He has written episodes for Ben Casey, Gunsmoke, Dr. Kildare and many others. Mr. Curtis, as a free lance writer, has written and had published many short stories and several books of poetry. A recent issue of a quarterly publication called "Grist West" contains works of writer Curtis, as well as those of Eric Barker and other Big Sur writers and personalities.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Curtis and their four children, five-year-old Ross, sixth grader, Melissa Jane, Carmel Middle School, Lincoln and Micah, live on a hilltop in the coastal country where home, studio and office look out upon the Big Sur Valley. The Curtises have made their home in Big Sur since 1949. Mrs. Curtis, a native of South Dakota, is a teacher by education, and when the need arises, serves as substitute teacher at Captain Cooper School.

THE BIG SUR REVUE

The big, annual community event, the Pot Luck Revue will be staged, for the 15th consecutive year for four nights—March 24 through 27. This popular show, sponsored by the Big Sur Grange, draws upon the talents and creative abilities of the Big Sur community for the cast of this unique musical and variety entertainment. Each year members of the audience come not only from the coastal areas but from Carmel, Monterey and as far north as San Francisco and as far south as Los Angeles.

The Pot Luck had its inception in 1952. At that time the Grange needed to raise money to pay off the mortgage so a big pot luck dinner was arranged. Gene Perrine and Bob Skiles, music and art teachers, respectively, in Carmel schools, were asked to plan a little entertainment following the dining hour.

The next year there was a second revue with the late Susan Porter in a tableau called "The Tea Party" and Billy Post began a series of clown numbers.

The third year the pot luck dinner was discontinued and the revue became a full length show.

Gene Perrine and Bob Skiles have continued to direct this much looked-forward-to event and through the years the Trotters, the Posts, the Fleenors, the Ewoldsens—a host of others—have joyously and generously worked together to bring happy evenings to the community.

Tickets for this all-community night may be obtained by writing or telephoning Marty Hartman, Big Sur 5831.

HIGHWAY PATROL OFFICER HONORED

Don Thomas, highway patrol officer stationed in the Big Sur area, recently received a runner-up award for peace officer of the year at special ceremonies held at the non-commissioned officers club, Fort Ord. The honor and award which was presented by Municipal Court Judge Russell Zaches of Monterey, was in recognition of his service in giving assistance to victims of a truck accident on the Sur Coast, assistance which called for descending a rugged cliff under extremely hazardous conditions.

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

For the first few weeks of the flu epidemic we were congratulating ourselves because the entire library staff had escaped the bug and were raring to work. Suddenly three of us came down with it almost at once. As a result the library was limping along and everyone who could keep going was working for himself and two other people. So goes the world!

We sorted and discarded magazines before we moved the periodicals to Sunset Center. A library which lacks room with the completeness that this library lacks it, can hardly become a storage center for magazines. As a result we have pared our holdings to a minimum and in doing so we discarded 504 years of magazines. The mortality record on magazines has shown a great many deaths in the past few years and these we discarded in their entirety. So if you want an old number of Colliers, or Coronet, or Century Magazine, or any other of a number of the deceased, we will try to borrow it from one of our neighbor libraries which has room enough to store the old ones.

We picked up an older book recently which we had missed in 1956 when it was first published. Written by Oliver LaFarge, it is entitled "A PICTORIAL HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN INDIAN." Naturally enough, it has masses of pictures, some of which are photographs, some drawings, and some reproductions of exhibits in famous museums. The costumes, the rites, the jewelry, the houses, all are here accompanied by the lucid text of LaFarge.

"THE FIRST LADIES COOK BOOK" was compiled by Margaret Klapfner who is a curator in the Smithsonian Institution. Here we have the favorite recipes of all the Presidents of the United States. The arrangement is chronological and each chapter has many other bits of information about its President. Pictures of the dishes, the silver, the homes and the family of the various Presidents enrich the text. One of George Washington's favorite foods was steak and kidney pie. Abraham Lincoln loved fricasseed chicken with scalloped oysters, and Franklin D. Roosevelt enjoyed a bowl of Martha Washington crab soup, and for dessert a piece of pecan pie. President Eisenhower liked quail hash and of course Lyndon Johnson is fond of Peder-nales River chile. Enough of this gourmet mishmash. Read the book and try the recipes yourself.

To a casual reader of the next book it might seem that the most valuable part of the first few chapters are the recipes. It is called "A TREASURE FOR MY DAUGHTER, A HANDBOOK FOR THE JEWISH HOME" and it was written by Bessie Batist. The recipes are included for each Jewish festival and religious observance. The main text of the book seems to be written in a forced manner in stilted phrases and with too liberal use of quotation marks. The last few chapters should be of special value for in them the author discusses several specific rites of the Jewish people and also gives the dates of certain festivals in both the Jewish calendar and the common calendar.

A doctor recently estimated that today probably one woman in ten has had the surgery known as a mastectomy or breast surgery. Today we have a new small book on the subject by Sylvia Seaman, who has experienced this surgery. She called her book "ALWAYS A WOMAN" and in it she discusses not only the surgery but, more important, she speaks of the emotional and mental trauma which women know who have had a mastectomy. She tells how to overcome the emotional shock as well as how to exercise to overcome the physical effects of the operation. This is a book which was much needed.

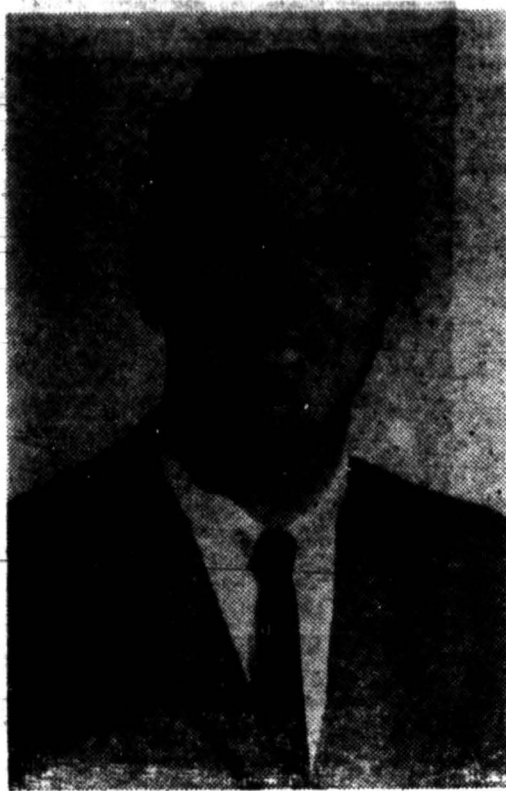

The many followers of the health rules of Adelle Davis will welcome a new book written by a woman who expounds new old theories of health and the cure of disease. Her name is Linda Clark, and to our everlasting surprise, being one of the ignorant ones, she lives in Carmel Valley. This is her second book. The first one was called "STAY YOUNG LONGER" and this one is entitled "GET WELL NATURALLY." It is a well written book, full of fascinating theories and specific remedies. Myself, I am beginning to use the Star exercise right now.

Eating for health, eating for fun, eating historically, mostly we have been talking about food today. All good books and all worth while. Come and get them for your own information and pleasure.

TEACHING, LEARNING ADULT FORUM SUBJECT

"New Models for Teaching and Learning" is the subject of a lecture tonight by Dr. Richard J. Suchman, fourth in the series of Adventures in Education forums sponsored by the Carmel Adult School.

Dr. Suchman's lecture will be heard in Brey Hall, Carmel High School, at 8 p.m. and is open to the public at no charge.

Douglas H. Sprague, above, is the new general secretary for the YMCA of the Monterey Peninsula which offers several youth programs and will this summer introduce Y-camping to the area for the first time. The first event to be offered by the new Monterey Peninsula YMCA is a caravan trip, for boys in grades seven through ten, to Death Valley during Easter vacation.

The 33-year-old Y leader graduated from the University of California at Los Angeles in physical education and recreation and holds a master's degree in group work administration from George Williams College in Chicago. For the past nine years, Mr. Sprague has been program secretary of three branches of the Los Angeles YMCA. He has directed YMCA day and resident camps, caravans to the high Sierra, Yellowstone and Canada, also pack trips and backpack trips into the high Sierra.

Italian Film Next On MPC Free Series

"Nights of Cabiria," an Italian film which was a multiple award-winner when first issued in 1957, will be shown at Monterey Peninsula College on March 25.

Accompanied by an analysis and critique by MPC faculty member Rod Holmgren, it will be screened twice—at 7 and 9 p.m.—in the MPC Armory.

Free tickets for both performances will be available at the college administration building reception desk tomorrow or they may be obtained by mail when requests are accompanied by stamped, self addressed envelopes. Because of limited seating in the music hall, interested persons are asked to restrict their ticket requests to two.

Directed by Federico Fellini of "La Strada" fame and starring Giulietta Masina, who also starred in that film, "Nights of Cabiria," "tragic and gay as life itself," tells the story of a little streetwalker with an indestructible spirit who lives on the outskirts of Rome.

Bach Festival Tickets On Sale, Soloists Named

Tickets for the Carmel Bach Festival's 29th season (July 15-24) are now on sale. Early application is recommended as seats for all evening performances have been consistently sold out before opening date for the past several years. The deadline date for the renewal of season tickets and new application therefor is April 30. Single tickets may also be ordered now.

Reservation for season tickets and single performance tickets will be handled by mail upon receipt of orders addressed to Carmel Bach Festival, Box 503, Carmel, 93921, with check and self-addressed stamped envelope enclosed.

Features this year include the "Mass in B Minor," complete, the "Passion According to St. Mark," two Brandenburg concertos, a Haydn and a Mozart symphony and, at the Carmel Mission Basilica, the "Play of Herod," fully staged and costumed.

The festival will be conducted by Maestro Sandor Salgo, now in his 11th year with the festival.

The festival brochure giving full information on program, scheduling and seating prices will be mailed on request.

The Carmel Bach Festival is a non profit organization devoted to the authentic presentation and perpetuation of Baroque music.

Soloists for the 1966 season so far are Marie Gibson, soprano, Pauline Law, alto, James Schwabacher, tenor, Edwin Dunning, bass; David Abel and Rosemary Waller, violin; Alice Ehlers, Malcolm Hamilton, Harold Cheney and Ralph Linsley, harpsichord; Istvan Nadas, piano. Also Alexander Schreiner, organ; Louise Di Tullio, flute; Raymond Duste, oboe and English horn; Edward Haug, trumpet.

BARGAINS IN BOOKS SALE TOMORROW

Books in all categories, an outstanding collection of prints and a selection of colorful plants and decorator flowers will be offered tomorrow during the Wellesley College alumnae's annual benefit from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the community room of the Estrada Adobe in Monterey. Proceeds from "Bargains-in-Books" are to increase the assistance fund for girls from this area or other parts of California who qualify for Wellesley College scholarships.

Art News

The Padre Trails Camera Club will host a showing of the Seventh Annual San Francisco Exhibition of Nature Slide Photography at Carmel High School tonight.

Photographic artists from ten countries and all areas of the U.S. are represented in the annual photography exposition devoted to depicting all aspects of nature and wildlife in color. The international exhibition is sponsored by the Photochrome Club of San Francisco.

The screening of the slides in the music building of the high school will begin at 8:00 p.m., and is open to the public without charge.

Three major art exhibitions will be included in a tour to San Francisco on Tuesday which is sponsored by the Peninsula chapter of the American Federation of Arts. The bus will go first to the M. H. De Young Museum where sketches by John Constable are on display. The collection includes 24 oil sketches and 48 watercolors and drawings by England's great landscape painter. It has been said of the exhibition "It illuminates the whole sweep of Constable's career by works produced at the highest pitch of concentration. These embody an art which, in the application of the natural vision to the facts of the English landscape, has never been surpassed for expressiveness or truth." In other galleries of the same museum are photographs by Howard Dearstyne, a former student of Mies van der Rohe and the only American born graduate of the German Bauhaus, also an exhibition of glass.

Lunch will be served to the group at Rocca's Restaurant before they proceed to the San Francisco Museum of Art to see the large retrospective exhibition of sculpture, paintings and drawings by the late Alberto Giacometti who was one of the 20th century's most important artists. Kinetic (moving) sculpture by European and American artists, selected by the Society for the Encouragement of Contemporary Art, and a retrospective exhibition of photographs by the late Paul Hassel are also being shown.

The bus will leave Carmel at 8 a.m. and Monterey at 8:10 a.m. and will return between 7 and 7:30 p.m. For information and reservations call AFA headquarters.

The 41st Annual Exhibition of the Kingsley Art Club, the oldest art club in Northern California, will be held at the E. B. Crocker Art Gallery in Sacramento from May 19 through June 26. The exhibition is open to residents of Northern California. There is no entry fee but entries will be limited to two in the classifications of painting, graphic arts, collage, and wall mosaics. Both may be in the same medium. In addition, two works in sculpture may be submitted, no sculpture to exceed 100 pounds.

Entries will be received on the second floor of the Crocker Art Gallery on April 29 and 30 from 10:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Judge of the exhibition will be Dr. Peter Selz, director of the University of California Art Museum at Berkeley, professor of art and former curator of the department of painting and sculpture exhibitions at the Museum of Modern Art in New York.

Entry forms and requirements may be obtained from E. B. Crocker Art Gallery, 216 O Street, Sacramento 95814; the exhibition chairman, Mrs. D. Jackson Faustman, 1243 Marian Way, Sacramento 95818; or Mrs. Joseph B. O'Neil, 1020 45th Street, Sacramento 95819.

The art workshop for children between the ages of nine and 12, sponsored by the American Federation of Arts, still has a few openings.

Conducted by Louise James, the classes feature painting and collage, also an experiment in life size three-dimensional painting. The classes are held on Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon in the Sunset Center cafeteria, and there are six sessions left in the series.

For information, call 624-2918.

CITIZENS COMMITTEE TO OPPOSE OVERRIDE STATES STAND

The Citizens Committee to Oppose the Override Tax held its "organization for action" meeting last week. Appointed to a coordinating committee were R. B. McClure, Rear Admiral C. W. Fisher (USN Ret.), Dan Daly, Clifton Beckwith and H. P. Seymour. They plan to contact other voters in the Carmel Unified School District who are opposed to the proposed 70 cent override tax which will be voted upon on March 29.

Mr. McClure summarized the committee's feeling that the override would be an unnecessary burden. "The people in the Carmel school district want better, not costlier, education for their children," he stated.

A junior art show, sponsored by the Carmel Arts Commission, opens Monday in Room 11, at Sunset Center. The exhibit will run for a month and will be open, free to the public, every day but Sunday from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. Featured will be the work of students of the Monterey Peninsula in grades 9-12, who attended Lyceum art workshops last year.

City Council Delayed On Civic Center

(Continued from Page One) for bids for this work. They will be considered on April 6. The council is not obligated to accept the lowest bid for this work, if it is proved that the original intention of having the city's public works department do the excavating is more economical.

"Maybe the building trade and construction trade council is doing us a service," commented Councilman Steven Grant. He added that the bids may prove "how valuable the department of public works is to the city."

The council, originally, had hoped to save $9,000 by having the excavating done with city equipment and personnel.

On April 6, the council will hold a public hearing on the sale of the present police station, estimated value $90,000, to help finance Phase I civic center construction at Junipero and Fourth. A 4-1 vote of the council, to approve the sale, will be needed if objections are voiced by citizens.

At the request of Mayor Herbert Blanks, City Administrator Hugh Bayless demonstrated that bank loans will be the cheapest way to finance the proposed civic center development. On July 1 of each year, the city will borrow from a bank needed funds at 2.75 percent interest to cover indebtedness. After the first year, on June 30, payment of each year's debt will be made to the bank. In the interval, the sum borrowed will have accrued interest at 4.625 percent in the city's time reserve deposits.

In addition, each year an estimated sum of $50,000 non-reserve hostelry tax funds will have accrued. This sum will be used to decrease the principal borrowed

Around the cottages, holes in the lava were either blasted or jackhammered to provide planting spaces. Eighteen varieties of hibiscus now flower colorfully in the garden of Kona Plantation. Bougainvillea of many shades cascades over lava outcroppings left to create a natural setting. Star shaped blossoms on plumeria trees scent the air. Bird of paradise flowers dot the slope between luxuriant tropical vines and bushes, most of them blooming. Ti leaves provide more vibrant color and added to trees already on the site are graceful palms, some many feet high, others with fronds still brushing the earth.

Just a week ago, I sat on the lanai in this beautiful setting watching with the Stueflotens for the green flash which shows as the sun sinks below the horizon of the deep blue Pacific. Round my neck was a fragrant plumeria lei, made by Ellen, and presented in the old Hawaiian tradition, with a kiss, as Walt welcomed me when I got off my plane at Kona Airport. It truly was my plane for the flight from Honolulu. I was the only passenger.

A chance encounter led to this unexpected flight in a small twin-engine plane. I wanted to see the Stueflotens and Kona Plantation, also Mrs. Tim Morrow (Peggy Porter Mawgurd) in Lahaina on the Island of Maui before I came home.

Enquiries at an airline office on bustling Kalakaua Avenue amid the tasteless tourist towers of Waikiki led me to charming Joan Naylor, Honolulu representative for Kona Plantation and representative for Royal Hawaiian Air Service.

She phoned Ellen Stuefloten. There was room for me at Kona Plantation. In minutes, Joan also arranged flights to Hawaii, to Maui and back to Honolulu.

Two days later, at Honolulu International Airport, a handsome tanned man came up to me and said, "Mrs. Lloyd, I am Ken Brooks, your pilot." How charming are the pilots of Hawaii I thought.

"Your plane is waiting," he then informed me. Horrified, I realized that the tiny plane on the runway was to transport me across miles of ocean.

Shaking in my sandals, I climbed into the cockpit beside him. The behemoths of the airways arriving from all parts of the world were cleared from our path by the control tower. Soon I was flying over Lanai and along the south shore of Molokai. In the distance snowcapped Mauna Kea and Mauna Loa beckoned me on to the Kona Coast below their almost 14,000 feet high peaks and I was enjoying an unforgettable adventure.

At Kona Plantation, Ellen, in a flowing angel muu-muu, gave me warm welcome and took me to my very own "home" on the Big Island. She had chosen hibiscus blooms, harmonizing with the decor of my cottage, for each room. On a low table in the living room, three were centered on a large leaf, made lacy by some artistic insect. She had even placed a hibiscus on the counter in my dressing room. Its deep hue matched luxurious towels and blended with the tiles in the huge shower beyond. I was enchanted.

Soon, in a new Rambler, I was exploring the nearby city of Kailua which is steeped in Hawaiian history. Amongst its fragrant foliage, Hawaiian royalty greeted stern New England missionaries in 1820.

Three years later, the first Moku-kaiua Church was built nearby. The present restored structure was begun in 1836 and completed a year later. The handhewn timbers of this historic church were cut and hauled from surrounding hillsides. Coral was baked and burned

Ellen Stuefloten provides touches which make Kona Plantation cottages homelike. Her taste is displayed in the furnishings and decoration of the rooms. The hibiscus blossoms she arranges on the tables harmonize with the decor. for the lime which binds the coral blocks chiselled from the ocean floor to build the walls.

"Doesn't it remind you of Carmel Mission?" Ellen asked me about the high vaulted church with its rows of wooden benches.

Across from the church is charming galleried Holihee Palace, summer home of Hawaiian royalty, with waves crashing on its seawall.

In the opposite direction along the coast is the spot where Captain Cook first set foot in the Islands, also the shoreside hamlet where King Kamehameha III was born, the ancient City of Refuge and a still active volcano. On the hillsides is the deep green of the coffee plantations of Kona mingled with lighter hued banana plantations and tall church steeples of tiny villages. Above all, are the snowcapped peaks.

All the scenic beauty and history of the Island of Hawaii is just a drive away in a Kona Plantation car which is included in the overnight rate for a cottage. There are beautiful golf courses minutes away.

Guests return from their explorations or sport to their "homes," later watch the sunset while they chat with Ellen and Walt and their other guests on the lanai.

The evening I was there, Mr. and Mrs. George King of Rancho San Carlos had just returned from visiting the Ben Viljoens, formerly of Carmel Valley who now live in the house they have built nearby. Their daughter, Barbara, a Carmel High graduate, greeted me and bid me farewell at the airport. She works for the airline which transported me.

"I am sunburned from skiing on Mauna Kea," she stated as we stood in the moist tropical air of the coastline.

Another link with Carmel is Kona Plantation's special charter boat for deep sea fishing. It is the "Goodbye Charlie," a 43-foot vessel which belongs to Richard Boone (Paladin), who first portrayed a suave Western gunman at Monterey's First Theatre when he lived in Carmel Valley. Walt says there is also the best hunting in the Islands available to Kona Plantation guests.

Next day, reluctantly, I left the Big Island and flew in my tiny plane to the Island of Maui and a visit with Peggy Morrow in her charming shop in Lahaina. Honoluluans fly to this sleepy town, also steeped in history, just to purchase the beautiful Hawaiian design clothing, pearls and jade, Peggy offers in The Gallery.

Late in the afternoon I was again in the air, this time with a new pilot, Bogey Bogowitz. On the way to Honolulu, he flew me along the north coast of Molokai where 3,000 foot high, verdant cliffs rise abruptly from the ocean and waterfalls flow down two-thirds of this height. I saw Father Damien's church in the leper colony on a low Peninsula of Molokai. Then back to Oahu. The jagged mountains above Honolulu were crowned by dark clouds as we landed. Later a tropic rain drenched Waikiki.

Already I was nostalgic. I wanted to be back near Kealahou watching for the green flash with Ellen and Walt.

"Say 'Aloha' to all our friends in Carmel," they bid me.

This I do and may you some day enjoy, too, their hospitality in the beautiful setting of Kona Plantation, embodying the ideals of Carmel.

Arts Commission Chairman May Have To Wear Two Hats

(Continued from Page One) were to be given to persons who joined an auxiliary body to the commission. Friends of Art, by making a donation towards anniversary expenses. The commission proposed to expend funds thus acquired to finance anniversary events.

Tuesday night, the council adopted a report which recommended that a citizens organization be formed to raise funds and share in the expense of the proposed celebrations, also to carry out projects approved by the council relative to the 50th anniversary.

To this citizens group, the council approved presenting the arts commission decals: these to be used as symbols denoting that a donation to the private anniversary fund raising effort had been made.

But, Mayor Herbert Blanks explained to Mrs. Norberg. There was nothing to stop her from banging her gavel to end an arts commission meeting and then reconvening commission members as a citizens group, providing they agree to their dual roles.

Figuratively, she just has to change her hat.

The council also approved the appointment of an advisory committee to assist the arts commission with golden anniversary events on October 29, 30 and 31.

CHS Parent's Club Meets Monday

All parents of Carmel High School students are urged to attend a meeting of the Parent's Club on Monday at 8 p.m. in Brey Hall at the high school. With the help of an advisory committee, formed since the last meeting, a fully organized Parent's Club for Carmel High is now a reality.

On Monday, parents may learn more about the American Field Service program and actually meet some of the foreign students; hear a report by Principal Warren Edwards on what's been happening at the school and have an opportunity to ask questions; hear a speaker on the need of the 70-cent override tax. They are also invited to have coffee and meet one another and the teachers.

annually from the bank. The 2.75 percent interest rate on the money borrowed will be covered by the higher interest paid to the city on its time reserve deposits. The debt could be liquidated by the latter part of 1971, he predicted.

"An ingenious plan, it has been checked for legality," observed the Mayor.

Guide Dogs For Blind Fund Drive By Mail Only This Year

Mrs. James H. Parks, chairman of the Monterey Peninsula Committee of Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc., has announced that the 19th annual membership drive will be by mail only.

Mrs. Parks stated that in past years local contributions have been able to finance two or more man-dog units at an approximate cost of $1,850 per unit.

New or renewed memberships should be sent to Guide Dogs for the Blind, San Rafael, California. All contributions from this area will be credited to the Monterey Peninsula quota.

NEW DEMOCRATIC WOMEN'S CLUB MET

Mrs. John Robotti, chairman of the newly formed Women's Division of the Democratic State Central Committee of Monterey County, was hostess March 9 for a meeting of the group at her Carmel home.

Plans were made for an extensive registration drive and a program for demonstrations and education on the use of voting machines. Other plans are being formulated for the expected visit to the Peninsula this Spring of Mrs. Pat Brown.

ANNUAL COOKIE SALE

Carmel Girl Scouts will be out early Saturday as they start their annual cookie sale to raise funds to benefit all Girl Scouts in the Monterey Bay Area. The yearly drive is also for the purpose of helping the scouts plan and carry out a project which will give them experience in meeting the public in a courteous and business-like manner.

The cookies (and they ARE good) are sold for 50 cents per box.
